Conferees Reach Final Agreement On Farm Measure

DEBENTURE SHRINERS STAGE ORIENTAL PARADE TONIGHT

AN WILL CUT OUT

ved Enough Votes Can Mustered to Pass
On Floor of Senate
LY VOTE IS SEEN
erstood President Will
gn As It Stands—McNary Also Is Satisfied

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The debenture plan as proposed by President Hoover administration leaders in the senate was struck down by the house senate conferees who reached agreement on the measure. The measure already has served notice on the senate to fight the action of conferees from the senate. He is aroused because the conferees stood unanimously in taking the debenture plan house for a vote. After the passed the bill, the house position that the senate's amendment of the debenture plan unconstitutional because the measure provides revenue raisers should originate in the house. Norris considers it untenable for senate conferees to abandon their position without forcing a vote in the senate. McNary's position is that the conferees did all they could, but just put it up to us cold. McNary would have to take this bill signed by the president and get nothing. McNary "We took what we could I think it is a very good thing."

administration leaders claim they some secret votes ready to up the action of the conferees when the matter comes before the senate. McNary administration needs only 44 votes to overthrow the previous 44 debenture vote. With a bill coming on and Democrats seeking protection for certain industries in states, it is easy to believe that the leaders have the votes they need. McNary is no doubt that Mr. Hoover sign the bill without the sure plan. He is said already have prepared the personnel on farm board which he hopes to put up immediately in the face of the peculiar condition of the market. The only possibility of a change in the agreement can come from the senate. The sure group is strong enough to bring up repeal of national origins provision of immigration act.

GOVERNOR WILL MEET MONDAY WITH BANKERS

Conference Called To Find Solution To State Bank Tax Situation

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—(UP)—Financial leaders of California, representing every large banking institution in the state, will confer with Governor C. C. Young next Monday and Tuesday in an effort to find some solution to the apparently entangled bank tax situation in this state, the United Press learned today.

Following a United States supreme court decision, declaring the new California bank tax law invalid, the state is faced with possibility of collecting little or no tax from banks. An estimated loss in revenue of from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 annually will result, it was said.

Will F. Morrish, president of the state bankers' organization, today acknowledged that the bankers will meet with the governor next week. "The bankers of California are as much disturbed over the situation as state officials," he said.

"We recognize that certain taxes should be paid to the state by us and it is our intent to co-operate with the governor in any way possible to solve this unfortunate predicament."

The governor is meeting today and tomorrow with California tax commission members, when the matter will be thoroughly discussed and some sort of a plan evolved. Results of this meeting will be presented to the bankers and they in turn will take up the problem at their state convention, to be held in Sacramento the latter part of next week.

The supreme court decision upsets the entire bank tax law, carefully worked out by the tax commission and passed by the last legislature. A tax, based on the net income of banks and corporations was formulated and made into law. However, the new law states that interest from tax exempt securities must be included as net income of a bank or corporation. The supreme court ruled that national banks cannot be forced to pay a tax on this source of revenue, and as the majority of banks derive a great portion of their income from this source they would escape practically tax free.

Possibility of such a decision by the supreme court was considered remote when the tax commission drew up their bank tax law. The precaution was taken, however, in the event of this decision being rendered they would co-operate with the state to "secure remedial legislation from congress."

Such legislation is now the only hope left to the state, authorities agree. Federal statutes outline the course by which a state may tax a national bank and each of the possibilities in the statutes which would fit in with the state's tax system have been exhausted by California.

Discussing the promise made by the bankers to the tax commission, Morrish said:

"We will make every effort to fulfill that promise. I cannot say how it will be done without conferring with other bankers in the state. An appeal to congress for new legislation appears to me to be a long process, but the people of the state may be assured that we will do everything in our power to place the banks where they belong with respect to their taxations."

NEW COURT IN SOUTHLAND IS CREATED TODAY

Governor Young Signs Bill Establishing Appellate Court In State

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—(UP)—A new appellate court district for the southern half of the state was created today with signing of a measure by Governor C. C. Young.

The new district, to be known as the fourth appellate court, will comprise the counties of Fresno, Tulare, Kings, Inyo, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Imperial and San Diego. During the last legislative session two bills were introduced for additional appellate court districts. Authors of the two bills finally agreed to merge them into one district.

A circuit court is put into existence by the plan, with the judges sitting one-third of the time in Fresno, one-third in San Bernardino, and one-third in San Diego.

An appropriation bill of $92,274 to meet cost to the state of the recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Los Angeles county was also signed by the governor.

The Rochester radio slander bill, providing punishment for "every person who wilfully, and with a malicious intent to injure another, utters any slander" was signed yesterday by the governor. A record number of signatures were received by the governor during his consideration of the measure, the great majority asking for its veto.

The radio should be placed on the same standard as newspapers as far as libelous statements through its medium is concerned, the governor said in signing the act.

Two new state institutions—a state hospital for the insane and an intermediate prison for youthful offenders between 18 and 24—were made possible through signing of a pair of bills by the governor. Both institutions will be located in Southern California, although the exact site has not yet been chosen.

2 S. A. JUDGES DISCOVER THEY CAN'T PRESIDE

The case of Wents versus Newton couldn't find a place to light today. It was assigned to two superior court departments in succession and came out of both without getting anywhere except to the gate. Judges 15 both courts found that they were disqualified after examining the complaints.

George Wents, John Wents and L. Y. Mattes were seeking to be declared owners of stock in the Newton Process Manufacturing company, Fullerton, which they claimed was due them by virtue of an agreement with D. L. Newton. The complaint alleged that Newton had agreed to sell the stock to the Southwest Engineering company.

When the case was brought before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, it was found that he was related by marriage to one of the plaintiffs. Taken before Superior Judge E. J. Marks it was found that he had had business as an attorney with one of the defendants before coming to the bench here. The case was continued to July 17, when it probably will be tried before Superior Judge James L. Allen. Judge Allen expects to leave for the east within a few days.

REMODELING OF SUGAR FACTORY IS CONSIDERED

The Pasadena college, educational institution of the Church of the Nazarene, will be moved from Pasadena to Santa Ana, if recommendation of the location committee is approved by the three assemblies in this educational zone of the church, and Santa Ana can meet conditions that may be agreed to later by a committee from the chamber and a committee from the conference board.

Directors of the chamber, at their meeting at the chamber of commerce office at 9 o'clock this morning, gave consideration to a communication from the location committee advising of action by the committee.

The committee points out that it is satisfied with the site of the old sugar beet factory of the Southern California Sugar company, a unit of the Holly Sugar corporation, located on South Main street, and that a committee has been authorized by the board of directors of the college to conduct negotiations for purchase of not less than 30 acres of ground, if the price is right, and the assemblies approve the selection of the location committee.

It is revealed in the communication that architects have estimated it will cost $150,000 to remodel the sugar factory into a college plant, and intimation is made that there is reasonable assurance that the college will come here if the community could arrange to take care of the remodeling costs.

The directors commented on the fact that the organization could give no definite assurance that such a sum could be raised here, but authorized officers of the chamber to pledge to the college and church committee every possible co-operation in an effort to raise the amount if the church wished to organize a drive here.

Harry Hanson, Allison Honer and Bob Fernandez were named as a committee to confer with a committee from the church board when the church assembly meets here in Santa Ana next week. The two committees will discuss various angles of the situation and will report to the directors at a later meeting.

The location committee revealed that it is the college program to create an endowment fund of $250,000 within the next five years. The fund, it is expected, will be subscribed principally by members of the church in this educational zone, comprising California, Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the local church, discussed the project with the directors. According to the proposition submitted, the contract for converting the factory structure into a college building will be awarded to local contractors if Santa Ana is finally selected as location for the college.

The college location committee is composed of H. B. Macgregor, L. A. Reed, O. J. Nease, U. E. Harding and George Siefarth.

MENINGITIS VICTIM LIES UNCONSCIOUS

A victim of epidemic meningitis, which attacked her last Sunday, Mrs. Daisy Frame, of Moss Landing, lies unconscious in the Orange County hospital today. Following the death of her husband last Thursday, Mrs. Frame left for Globe, Ariz., with her brother-in-law, Charles Frame, her two children, and a friend.

Today, an outline of the symptoms shown by Mrs. Frame's husband before his death indicated that he, too, might have suffered from meningitis. The entire party is under quarantine at the hospital, where it will remain for two weeks, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

Mrs. Frame, suffering from a severe headache, felt unable to proceed further last Sunday when the party reached Santa Ana. Her condition rapidly became worse and she was taken to the hospital. She had intended to go with her two children to the home of her brother-in-law in Globe.

Ralph Watson, of Anaheim, also is suffering from the same malady in the county hospital. For six weeks he has battled the disease, but today there seemed to be no indication as to the outcome of his struggle. At times he seems improved and again lapses back, according to Dr. Sutherland.

MAN SOUGHT IN KNIFE CASE FOR YEAR ARRESTED

Ending a search of over a year, Deputies M. E. Jemison, and Fred Humiston from the office of Sheriff Sam Jernigan arrested Joe Lopez, 19, Mexican laborer, early this morning on a warrant charging attempt to murder with a deadly weapon.

The arrest, which took place shortly before 5 o'clock this morning at the home of a sister of the prisoner two miles this side of Talbert, brought to a successful conclusion the hunt that was instituted a year ago last May, after Lopez is alleged to have attacked Gabriel Serrano, another Mexican at a dance held near Talbert, with a knife. The trouble started, according to the report on file in the sheriff's office, when Serrano made slighting remarks concerning the manner in which Lopez was dancing and the latter, with no warning, drew a knife from his sleeve and stabbed Serrano in the right breast and left arm.

Lopez dashed from the church following the fight and had been successful in his attempts to elude the officers until this morning. His condition for some time after the affair, is reported to be living in Pomona with an uncle.

DRINK AGAIN? MAN'S ANSWER CREATES STIR

Misunderstanding a question directed at him by Superior Judge E. J. Marks threatened momentarily to add to the seriousness of the plight in which O. A. Martin found himself late yesterday, when he was sentenced after pleading guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Martin's attorney, W. F. Menton, had placed witnesses on the stand who testified to his client's good character. Then Martin himself answered a few questions. The court asked what he would do if he were offered a drink of liquor again. This was a puzzle for Martin and he answered that he didn't know. Mention hastily interceded and it was found that Martin, who is slightly deaf, had misunderstood the question.

The court assessed a fine of $200 and suspended his driver's license for one year. Martin formerly had pleaded not guilty to the charge, but reversed his plea when he came before the court yesterday. Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman appeared for the people.

SPRING RECITAL GIVEN TUESDAY BY 100 PUPILS

By RUTH ANDREWS

Observing the annual spring recital and graduation exercises, over 100 advanced pupils of Santa Ana Conservatory of Music presented an impressive, elaborately varied program to an appreciative audience crowding Yost Spurgeon theater last evening. All departments of the school were well represented by solo and ensemble numbers from violin, piano, voice, cello and wind instrument departments. Vivid gladioli and golden broom lavishly arranged made especially lovely floral decorations.

Led by D. C. Clafoni, director of the conservatory, the assembled audience sang "America," fitting prelude to the long, well-chosen program. Attractively arranged, a large ensemble of 50 violins, led by their teacher, Elwood Bear, opened effectively with the familiar "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" (Offenbach) and stately grace of Beethoven's "Minuet in G."

Silvery soprano of Murrel Knox, girlish in snowy taffeta, appealed in the graceful "Michaela" aria from "Carmen" (Bizet), also the more dramatic "Morning" (Speaks), accompaniment rendered by Ruth Armstrong. Rippling ornamentation of the classic "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah" (Meyerbeer) offered by Robert Tannenbaum as a wind instrument solo, was delicately shaded, pleasingly accompanied by Allien Lair.

Winsome charm and poise of little Sylvia White, talented six-year-old violinist, in "California Roses" (Fischer) also accompanied by Miss Lair, was thoroughly enjoyed. Fine contrasts and tonal color apparent in Betty Smedley's excellent rendition of the "Finale" from Greig's Sonata in E Minor brought lovely floral reward.

Sincerity and clear tone marked the cello solo "Calvary" (Rodney) by Neola Fox, pleasantly accompanied by her sister Virginia. Attractive in bouffant pink taffeta, Martha Kittle, contralto, offered the favorite Saint-Saens' "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," also the bird-like Indian lyric, "Waters of Minnetonka" (Lawrence), accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, appropriate flute obbligato by Paul Beatty.

Introduced by their teacher, Elwood Bear, head of the violin department, the violin ensemble of 20 advanced students heard in intricate, classic rhythm of the famous Bach Concerto in D Minor proved an especially unique, much appreciated number, its extremely modern manner of presentation lending very novel note. Two-piano accompaniment by Allien Lair and Marcia Keeler lent effective support.

Presentation of 40 grade certificates and diplomas to advanced pupils by McKee Flisk, dean of Santa Ana junior college, was impressive. Mr. Flisk briefly stressed the value of music to enrich everyday life, its vital influence on history's progress, the universality of its ever-varying message, paying tribute to the conservatory's influence upon the musical life of the youth of the community, also to Mr. Clafoni, as an inspirational influence toward local musical progress.

Charming in bronze tulle, Allien Lair, one of Santa Ana's most talented young pianists, and post-graduate of the conservatory, appeared to splendid advantage in the technically difficult "A Flat Polonaise" (Chopin), favorite of concert artists, admirable shading, octave work, and excellent phrasing very evident. Appearing repeatedly as accompanist throughout the evening, Miss Lair fulfilled her double role with real merit.

Mellow tone of the baritone horn was well adapted to the favorite "Toreador Song" from "Carmen," effectively rendered by Carl Gunn, also receiving his graduate diploma last night. A brass trio off stage, also piano accompaniment by Miss Lair, added to this number's effectiveness. Hugh Runnells, baritone, was much enjoyed in tender warmth of Bohm's "Calm as the Night," his courageous challenge of Ruhn's "Invictus," a fine contrast, Ruth Armstrong accompanying with sympathetic certainty.

Georgia Belle Walton, artist pupil of Mr. Bear, also post-graduate of the conservatory, her piquant personality and unusual talent as a violinist well known to local music lovers, played the demanding "Souvenir de Moscow" (Wienlawski) with spirit, assurance and subtlety, also being presented with flowers. Satisfying contrast was struck by the spirited brass quartet, in "Momento Musicale" (Gatti-Clafoni), with William Motley, Viola Oliphant, D. C. Clafoni and Carl Gunn, this number warmly applauded. Brilliant with typical Spanish sparkle, the piano duo "Espana Rhapsody" (Chabrier) by Allien Lair, and her

COUNCIL SETS DATE FOR SEWER PROTEST

ORANGE, June 5.—Protests against the creation of an assessment district for the installation of a sewer system on Citrus street south of Chapman avenue to Almond will be heard by the city council June 25. The proposed sewer will extend along Citrus street from Chapman avenue 594 feet. A resolution of intention ordering the work to be done and a resolution presenting plans and specifications for the same were read.

A petition to the council, presented by a number of residents of Tustin street and Walnut avenue, was read, protesting the heavy traffic of trucks operated by the Union Rock company along these streets.

Councilman Wood declared that residents of this district had complained of lack of police protection and said that the trucks did not stop at the button in the street. The city attorney gave the opinion that the city council could prohibit the driving of the vehicles.

The Union Rock company was represented by O. V. Barkman district manager, who stated that the night hauling had only lasted a few nights during a rush order from the Santa Fe oil field.

Ed Buia represented the signers of the petition, which was signed by 22 property owners.

On motion from Councilman V. A. Wood, the city attorney, H. L. Dearing, was instructed to look into the matter.

A clean-up campaign to be held soon was planned.

A representative of the Mexican social center was given permission to hold a street carnival Saturday on Cypress street.

The city street superintendent was instructed to see that all dead trees were removed from parking.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

MIDWAY CITY, June 5.—Mrs. Sterling Price was the honoree at a family gathering arranged by her family in observance of her birthday anniversary. Home made canby brought by the guests, was enjoyed and later in the evening all went to the home of Mrs. Price's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Willingham, where dinner was served.

Those present were Mrs. E. S. Heil, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. P. Heil and family, of Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heil and family, of Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw, of Smeltzer; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauers, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. George Harding and family, of Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Price and daughters, Wilma and Shirley, and son, Maurice, and Mr. and Mrs. John Willingham and daughter, Betty June, of Midway City.

teacher, Miss June Hartman, was very enjoyable.

Emphasizing his keen interest in boys, and briefly explaining his purpose in recent organization of the Santa Ana Junior band, Director Clafoni led the youthful band of 30 members in a stirring march, "Precision" (Bennett), as vivid, much-applauded conclusion to what was undoubtedly the best recital program ever presented locally.

$45,500 ASKED IN TWO SUITS AGAINST DRIVER

John F. Michael today was made defendant in two damage suits in which judgments totaling $45,550 were asked. Both complaints were based on an automobile accident occurring May 9 at the intersection of Magnolia avenue and Clair street.

Charles A. Cashdollar, plaintiff in one action, is seeking damages of $10,800 for injuries received when the Michael car is asserted to have collided with the one which he was driving. William J. McCullough and Jennie L. McCullough, plaintiffs in the second case, are seeking $35,250 damages, claiming to have been passengers in the Cashdollar car when it is said to have been struck by the defendant's automobile. ## you can't substitute adjectives for engineering

When somebody invents a car that will run on superlative adjectives, the motoring millennium will surely be with us.

Up to date, however, the efforts to substitute adjectives for engineering have been such dismal failures that the verbally-operated car still seems a long way off.

So the "hot-air" motor is perfected, the Chrysler-built De Soto Six will continue to depend on its engineering and leave the adjectives to the other fellow.

Because it is typically Chrysler-engineered, De Soto Six already has achieved an admirable record of economy and durability. It has earned the praise of thousands upon thousands of owners by its gratifying performance, its handling ease and its low cost of operation and maintenance.

In addition to its ability to perform and keep on performing, it is handsome and comfortable. Chrysler-designed weather-proof brakes give it exceptional safety.

Here is a six-cylinder car priced well below $1,000 that inspires real pride of ownership in any company. The purchase of a De Soto Six is the kind of economy dictated by wisdom and not necessity.

Before you take a demonstration just ask yourself what a motor car ought to do. You will find that De Soto Six, point for point, pleasingly exceeds all your expectations.

Plans for the project were submitted by W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor. The job is expected to cost approximately $3500.

LARGE SCHOOL EXHIBIT READY FOR THURSDAY

Complete in every detail, the largest exhibit ever staged in the Santa Ana high school will be open to the public tomorrow evening in the high school gymnasium.

Each department usually has a separate showing, but this year, all combined and planned for the one large display. Products will be shown from the woodshop, machine shop, print shop, art department, and sewing and cooking classes. Teachers sponsoring the exhibit are Miss Myrtle Hurt, Miss Ruth Rowland, Miss Frances Egge, Charles Tibbetts, Thomas E. Williams and Chester Blacow.

The woodshop will probably have the biggest part of the show. Over 100 articles of furniture made by the boys will be shown. This will include chairs, tables, desks, dressers, stands, radio cabinets and many other articles. The print shop will have an especially fine news paper exhibit with the many special editions of the high school Generator and junior college Don featured. Job work, posters, samples of type and work will complete this section.

The many creative works of the art students will have a prominent place. Posters, pictures, cards, lamps and such things will be viewed. Samples of cooking, recipes, sewing and dresses will comprise the home economics department. Girls in these classes will wear dresses they have made and stage a small fashion show. The machine shop will necessarily be limited to smaller jobs, but the lighter machines and products will be moved into the show rooms.

The junior college orchestra, under the direction of S. J. Mustel, will furnish music throughout the evening. Refreshments will be served. Inasmuch as the high school meeting is scheduled for the same evening, many parents and teachers are expected to attend the exhibit.

Gypsies have defied the plan to bar them from the grounds of the famous Epsom Downs race course in England.

ABSTINENCE AS ATHLETIC HELP TOLD IN ESSAY

Miss Thelma Trickey, sophomore in the Tustin union high school, was one of the prize winners in the recent contest sponsored by the W. C. T. U. of Orange county. Her essay was first in the high school division. The title was "Total Abstinence As a Help in Athletics."

BY THELMA TRICKEY

Attention, young athletes: Do you know what counts the most for your success in athletics? It's the brain. Dr. Charles Mayo has said: "You can get along with a wooden leg, but you can't get along with a wooden head." Now, if you don't want to be considered a wooden head you must keep your brain clear, but if your brain is kept clear you must keep your body fit as well. This can only be done by the non-use of liquor and tobacco.

Athletes, stop and consider that it has been proven by scientific men, who have studied the work of the brain and the effect of alcohol, that one drink of alcoholic liquor dulls the brain, causes slowness in putting ideas together, and in responding to signals. We no longer live in the "Rip Van Winkle Age" but in a fast-moving age, an age in which we must climb higher and higher or someone else will take our place. If you expect to keep pace with fast thinking, quick responding and the perfect commanding of the individual of today, take not one drop of liquor, or smoke not one cigarette.

You hear men say that they take a drink as a stimulant, but by this stimulant a man loses his co-ordination. You hear people tell how they had their wits quickened for a short period by liquor, but they don't tell you how, later, their body could not act in co-ordination with their brain. Has any great man been great, or has he accomplished any great deed through the use of alcohol? No!

Athletes require not only muscular strength, but quick, accurate brains. The good athlete thinks before he acts. The effect of alcohol tends to make one act before he thinks.

The baseball player must be able to throw the ball exactly where he wishes to place it. Alcohol and tobacco tend to impair nerve control, so you can readily see that alcohol is injurious to a baseball player.

Not long ago I heard this remark, "If 'Red' gets a couple of drinks he will win the baseball game tomorrow." "Red" won the ball game and with the aid of a few drinks, because he was so wild in his pitching that the batters were afraid to stand up to the plate to bat. That certainly was not good sportsmanship. "Red" is out of the game today.

A certain ball player says, "Pivot and perfect balance are secrets to power in all sports." If he used alcohol or cigarettes he could not control his nerves to keep perfect balance.

On any ball team every play is a signal to every member of the team to do something or stay still. Alcohol slows ability to respond to signals, or if one has to decide quickly which one of two motions to make, he may respond to the signal quickly but is more likely to make the wrong motion.

The leading coaches of the colleges of today will not be bothered with a player who uses alcohol, because he cannot depend on his ability to play the game.

It is considered by many doctors that two and seventy-five one hundredths per cent beer is an intoxicating beverage.

George O. Higley, professor of chemistry, Ohio Wesleyan university, stated as his belief that the drinking of beer containing three per cent of alcohol often results in hilarious outbursts followed by surly behavior. In this stage the drinker loses his self-control, and often self-respect, and his actions become careless. If larger doses of this same liquor are taken it may cause persons to become quarrelsome and emotional manifestations of fear, jealousy, and hatred may be aroused without cause so that crimes are committed. He is considered intoxicated in these conditions even though he does not stagger and is not "drunk." In the popular meaning of the word. Would this type of man be a good athlete?

The Carnegie Institution of Washington, in a study of the use of liquids containing two and seventy-five hundredths per cent of alcohol, published the following facts about persons after taking two pints of two and seventy-five hundredths per cent alcohol: "Unsteadiness was about twenty per cent greater, work requiring constant adjustment of eye and hand was three and two-tenths poorer, work requiring continuous attention was impaired in seven out of eight men, and mental ability requiring speed and accuracy was poorer." How long would this type of a man last in the big game of today?

Now, young athlete, no matter whether you are a walker, a climber, a baseball player, or a football player, sit up and take notice. No athlete who loves his school or wishes to attain distinction in his event ever touches alcohol or tobacco. You can see and hear of athletes, who had a great future before them, that lasted only a short time after beginning to drink. Do you think the boys of today are making greater records, in all lines of athletics because they are better men than our forefathers? No, it is because through greater education, our people of America have tried to give a field of action free from the barricades which used to be set up by the legalized liquor traffic. Keep yourself free from all entangling habits for it has been proven time and again that it causes slower reaction, slower muscular movements, less adequate and accurate muscular control, and less agile mental operations.

RAINY-DAY BOX

Toys children have tired of, mechanical toys that are absorbing and such things as modelling clay and other things to keep little fingers busy should be kept in an attractive box for rainy days when children cannot get outdoors. A big box, painted decoratively, is an excellent container because it tempts children to look inside.

THERE ARE many people who have been burned on the "market" this year who would have been far happier today if their investment had carried this comfortable qualification.

Many small investors, who could not afford to lose, have learned through bitter experience that SAFETY is more reliable than SPEED in accumulating money.

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—"Speedy" Dado showed considerable class here last night when he knocked out Jimmy Lucas, one-time flyweight and bantamweight champion of the navy, in four rounds. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

The fans registered displeasure at Referee Frank Holborow's verdict in another 10-round feature between Huerta Evans and Sid Torres. The battle was called a draw. Public sentiment was with Evans who forced the fighting.

tougher one to hurt. We've never seen him on the floor in some 25 starts.

Pick Mack Over Clark

Billy Clark and Marty Mack Long Beach welters who were fine prospects a few years ago, collide in the semi-windup. Clark is a very fair boy now but he doesn't like 'em on the whiskers. Mack will certainly win if he has come back to the form he showed when he was traveling the pace with Johnny Adams and Paul De Hate. He has beaten them both.

The six-round special will provide the comedy relief. Aurelio Misson and Melvin Bohn, the first a Filipino and the latter a Negro are first rate funny men. They stamp and snarl and grin, and incidentally, fight. Misson won last week. Tonight it probably will be Bohn's turn.

Captain Tommy Cone, Tom Donahue and Carl Schoenberg are star trackmen who will graduate. Cone was on the team three years, first as a miler, then as one of the leading half-milers in the south.

Johnny Willcutt and Russell Sullivan, like Yonel, will complete brilliant baseball careers in San Diego today. Willcutt was first string pitcher this season and most of last. Sullivan made the nine his sonhomore year. He played in the infield in 1927 and 1928 but was shifted to the outfield several weeks ago.

this, the second City loop set-to-of the summer. The Cowboys have assembled a colorful gang of veterans which will rally to the cause around an All-American football player, Don Williams, late of the University of Southern California.

Don Jerome is the chief strategist of the Kinslow organization. Either Ernie Jiles or S. Sutton will catch Ochoa with Johnny Lutz, Everett Lutz, Arnold Norton and Foster Prather slated for infield roles and Jerome, Joe Harless, Don Johnson, Sherman Holmes and Ray Burns ready for flyhawk service.

Williams is playing second base and managing the El Corrales. Horace Snow and Bernard Carlisle are the Cowboy heavies with Luther Babcock on the receiving end. Fred Winder, Williams, Ray Echols and "Jag" Walters are the infielders and Caryl Taylor, "Big Bill" Zangraff and Eddie West the outfielders.

The El Corral-Kinslow ruckus will be the first of three games scheduled for the Bowl tonight, tomorrow and Friday. Another City league joust is booked for tomorrow when the Torman Typewriter company meets the Hawley Sporting Goods troupe, Santa Ana's Stars engage Orange, conquerer of Anaheim, in a Countl league combat here Friday. The City league was officially opened Monday night when the Barr Lumber company overwhelmed the Santa Ana Ice company, 1928 champions.

The FUMIGATOR

by Mrs. E. Pickerill (all rights reserved)

There's probably no one as jealous now as the old "Spirit of St. Louis."

THE COVERED WAGON WAS RATHER SLOW GOING, BUT IT HAD MUCH LESS ANNOYANCE FROM THE REAR SEAT.

An investigation shows that your chances of being killed are less in Chicago than in Memphis. This must be wrong, because there are not so many people to shoot at you in Memphis.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Having dealt with the special session of Congress, Mr. Hoover, as well as the rest of the country, now knows why Calvin did not choose to run.

FLORIDABOOM!

Cast—Teacher: Aunt Argentine. School children: "Blackie" Scales, "Red" Spider, Amelia Bugg, "Spray" Goode, Ferta Lizer, "Wally" Nutte, "Smudge" Potte and The Cyanide Kid.

(Scene: The Lemon Room of Wahlberg's Cyanide University. Enter Teacher.)

TEACHER: Good morning, my little pests! This is the last day of school, so we will have a program.

CHILDREN (in unison): Oh, goodie, goodie!

TEACHER: "Blackie" Scales, you will now start the program.

B. S.: Down in Florida's sunny clime, where summer stays thru winter time, lives the dreaded Medfly creature. I hate to even think of it, teacher!

TEACHER: Very good. "Blackie" Next is a recitation by "Red" Spider.

R. S.: Medfly, Medfly, little pest, don't you dare to come out west; for I'll show you my tiny bite, you'll have my native sons-a-guns to fight.

TEACHER: Not so good. "Red," try to do better next time. You may be seated. We will next hear Amelia Bugg, my pet pest.

A. B.: The Forty-niners used to say, "There's gold in them thar lands;" but Twenty-niners now declare, "There's oil in them thar sands!"

TEACHER: Very good, Mealie, go to the head of the class. The next is from "Spray" Goode.

"Spray," haven't you something good for us?

S. G.: Last night as I lay on my pillow, I dreamed of the Medflies' dread hum, as they left quaint Orlando singing, "California, Here We Tum!" But soon all my dreaming was ended, by the sounding of drum and of brass; for the Legion boys were playing, "Over Here They Shall Not Pass!"

TEACHER: Wonderful, "Spray." It's fine to know the American Legion stands ready to help in national emergencies like this.

And now our program will end with THE FUMIGATOR QUARTETTE, consisting of Ferta Lizer, "Wally" Nutte, "Smudge" Potte and The Cyanide Kid.

F. Q.: Ashes to ashes, Dust to dust, If the Medflies get us, We'll all faw down and go boom! (Business of falling.)

Santa Ana, Calif., May 31, 1929.

Santa Ana Register:

Dear Editor: I voice the request of many Christian parents in asking that the enclosed article be published in your popular paper. The time is here when church, press, parents and teachers must unite in saving the next generation. There are dangers to child life that are as real as scale and frost to orange trees.

If necessary I can give you the signatures of dozens of mothers who want this published.

I have five children of my own that are fast growing beyond parental control, for children claim they are of age at 14 and 16 years in this rapid age.

Most sincerely,
MRS. MABEL ROWLAND,
MRS. ETHEL SMITH.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS

It is time mothers were awakening to the fact that nude dressing of women and little girls is inviting the lust of men and boys and when they accept your invitation, don't expect the police to protect you. You are getting just what you ask for.

Not long since, the Salvation Army gave startling facts to parents of ten-year-old girls becoming mothers; one eleven-year-old girl giving birth to twins. They have taken care of over 300 children during the past year, to say nothing of girls that are kidnapped and carried away.

Last Wednesday, two six-year-old girls, Grace Paulsen and Marjorie Baker, Dresser street, Santa Ana, were tricked into an auto by a strange man who fortunately became frightened and released the children on Fifteenth street.

In the name of common sense and decency is there any excuse for professing Christian mothers for dressing themselves and little girls in a way to excite the baser desires of men?

Why should woman expose her person to the gaze of the world any more than a man should expose himself?

If nudeness is a question of health, why not compel men and boys to strip?

It would seem that woman is still bent on dragging man down; she was the first one who tempted man, and she is still at the same old game.

When she reaps the harvest she is sowing, don't blame the police for non-protection.

MRS. MABEL ROWLAND.

CROCKED COLORS

If wearing a hand-blocked frock or any dress whose color is bright be sure to wear shields as many of the delicate new fabrics are done in paints and crock from perspiration. Some of them even wash successfully but run under the arms when shields are omitted.

MEAT JELLIES

The mother of a sick child tried to give beef and chicken juice to her. When she refused to take them, repeatedly, the mother chilled the juices and served them as jelly on top of toast to the immense satisfaction of both the patient and the nurse.

Water Project Endorsed By Placentia Chamber

ACTION TAKEN AFTER H. H. HALE, McFADDEN TALK

PLACENTIA, June 5.—The Placentia Chamber of Commerce met on record as favoring the water conservation and flood control bonds at the regular meeting yesterday noon, following several speeches on the subject by H. H. Hale, Ralph McFadden and A. J. Ward.

Willis Bennie presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, A. S. Bradford. Announcement was made that the Motor Transit company was a member of the organization.

Frank Rospaw and C. E. Lee reported on the display at the California Valencia Orange show. Prizes were captured as follows: First award for the largest stand, the fruit for this display from the groves of A. S. Bradford, Winthrop Bowen and his Jacobsen; second award for the best plate display of oranges, from H. H. Hale, W. W. McKmer and W. G. Smith. Each of the Placentia packing houses had a share in the fruit exhibit.

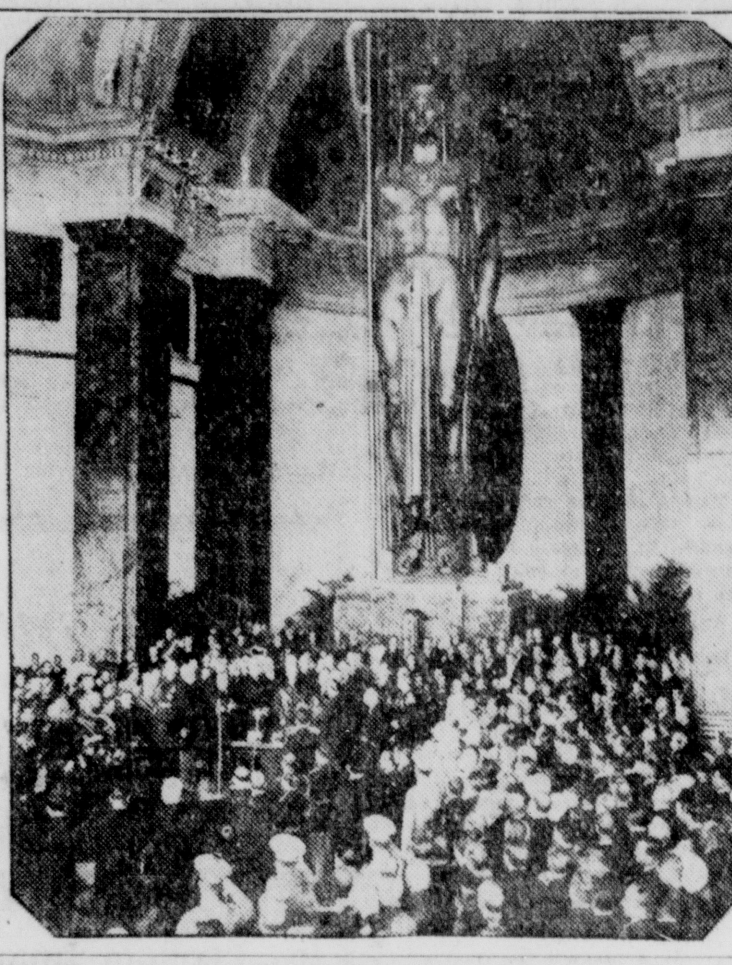

James Tuffree presented a resolution to the chamber expressing sympathy to the family of Winthrop Bowen. This resolution was passed, signed by the directors and a copy sent to Mrs. Bowen.

At the close of the regular meeting a session of the educational committee was called, at which Ralph McFadden was elected as candidate to fill the vacancy in the board of trustees of Fullerton union high school left by the passing of Winthrop Bowen.

A recommendation to this effect was sent Mr. Mitchell, copy superintendent of schools.

CUBAN STARTS SECOND TERM

Despite the charges and threats that have been made against his "machine" administration, the President of the Republic of Cuba is safely launched on a new term. Here you see the impressive scene in the new $16,000,000 capitol at Havana as General Machado y Morales took the oath of office for the second time, and for a term of six years. The ceremony took place in the Hall of Lost Steps, where towers the imposing symbolic statue of Cuba, seen in the background.

P.-T. A. HEADS ARE INSTALLED IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 5.—Mrs. Neal Beisel, of Santa Ana, president of the fourth district Parent-Teacher association, installed the new officers of the Placentia organization at the regular meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. Lewis Edwardson, president; Mrs. R. W. McCool, vice president; Mrs. Verne Adams, secretary; Mr. Oscar Carlson, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Knapp, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alpha Morse, historian; Mrs. Eva Copeland, historian; Mrs. Ole Christensen, auditor, are the officers for the coming year.

Preceding the installation reports of the committees for the year were heard, beginning with the treasurer's report, which was read by the secretary in the absence of Mrs. Hochstein. This report showed $267.85 received, $210.62 expended, and a balance of $57.23 to start the new year. Short reports were given by Mr. Riddlebarger, chairman of the educational committee; Mrs. Arnold of the music committee; Miss Hampton of the art committee and others.

Mrs. Beisel spoke a few words on the state convention, giving interesting high lights and gave special mention to the poster exhibit, in which the fourth district captured the three prizes, two going to Santa Ana Junior college and the third to Ora Leigh Bever, of Placentia. The subject of Mrs. Beisel's speech was "Co-operation and Service," which she termed the most overworked and abused words in the English language.

Mrs. L. T. Gilliam, retiring president, made a short speech after which she was presented with a basket of flowers and a past president's pin by Mrs. F. Hill.

After the meeting was adjourned, the members of the organization, as individuals, endorsed Ralph McFadden as candidate for the position of trustee of the Fullerton union high school, which was left vacant by the death of Winthrop Bowen.

Miss Mabel Anderson, home economics teacher, was in charge of the program and a large wardrobe trunk on the stage was opened, and from it stepped girls of the sewing classes, to display dresses made by themselves. These girls were from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and prizes were awarded for the best work. Neatness, design and suitability counted, and the judges were Miss Clara Bristol and Miss Helen Stokesbury of Fullerton union high school, Mrs. Alpha Morse of the Placentia school, and Mrs. E. W. Schade of the P.-T. A.

MAYOR PURINTON FLIES TO LAS VEGAS

Below are pictured Mayor Frank Purinton, Percy Hills of Pomona, Harry Povey and Sid Miller of Los Angeles, all directors of the Pacific Copper company who flew from Eddie Martin's Airport in a Continental Air Express ship to Las Vegas, Nev., and return. They made the trip to Las Vegas in two hours and fifty minutes.

Officers of Mining Firm "Sold" On Travel By Airplane Route

Mayor Frank Purinton is a confirmed flyer now.

He has just returned from Las Vegas, Nev., where he and several directors of the Pacific Copper company went via Continental Air Express to look over the holdings of the company.

"When you're in a hurry and want to get somewhere in a hurry, I recommend air travel," said Purinton this morning.

The trip to Las Vegas was made in a Curtiss-Robin in two hours and fifty minutes, according to Purinton.

The mayor is president of the Pacific Copper company and was accompanied to Las Vegas by Sid Miller, vice president and two other directors in the company.

Taking off at 8:30 o'clock in the morning from Eddie Martin's airport, the mining men arrived in Las Vegas at 11:20 and after spending most of the day looking over the company's holdings they returned late in the afternoon, arriving in Santa Ana before dark.

Sterling Boller, chief pilot for the Continental Air Express was at the controls.

Purinton has been interested in aviation for some time but the trip to Las Vegas was the first long one he has made and he came back firmly convinced of the safety, speed and comfort of air travel.

"Hereafter," said the mayor this morning, "when I want to travel and get somewhere in the quickest possible time I am going to use an airplane, even if it's a cross country trip."

The application of the Pickwick stages to operate such a system from San Diego to Long Beach has been turned down by the state rail body. At Thursday's session it is said that the Pickwick system will again apply for a franchise to run a direct San Diego to Long Beach line along the coast. At the same time the Motor Coach company will apply for the right to run a line from Long Beach to San Diego along the shore line.

Rose Motif Chosen for Smart Bridge Dinner At Country Club

Roses red and roses yellow, and all heavy headed with their own sweetness, made brilliant splashes of color against the white linen of the tables where Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. Cruikshank and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Crookshank last night entertained over sixty of their friends at dinner and bridge in Santa Ana Country club.

Other gorgeous roses nodded from the background and lent their beauty and fragrance to the scene. The flowers were all grown either at Los Alisos, country home of the Cruikshanks, or at the hillside home of the C. S. Crookshanks on Lemon Heights, with the exception of those sent by Mrs. Leonard G. Swales as a gracious little touch of friendliness.

Dinner was served in the main dining-room of the clubhouse, with tables arranged for friendly groups of eight or ten, who found places by means of dainty butterfly dinner cards. Later the guests repaired to the adjoining lounge where bridge tables awaited. By one of those coincidences that so frequently attend a session of bridge, both Mr. and Mrs. John W. Tubbs made high scores, and to each was presented a beautiful gift. Among the woman players, Mrs. Howard Timmons scored second high, and Mrs. P. R. Reynolds, third, and each received appropriate rewards as did James E. Liebigh and H. T. Dunning, scoring second and the third among the men.

The two hostesses were to follow last night's hospitality with a bridge luncheon held today at Santa Ana Country club.

Yorba Linda Club Has Dinner Meeting Here

Members of the Friday Evening club of Yorba Linda celebrated the closing meeting of the year with a dinner at Rose Arbor Inn in this city, followed by a theater party at the California theater, Anaheim.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Selover, Mr. and Mrs. W. Murray, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hoben, Mr. and Mrs. Grover S. Beall, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Eichler and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paine.

New Ebell President Entertains Members Of Her Board

Suggesting the many pleasant things anticipated by Ebell society during the coming year under the presidency of Mrs. Robert G. Tutbill, was the hospitality extended by Mrs. Tutbill yesterday in her summer home at Laguna Beach, which had for an underlying purpose, the blocking out of plans for the year, and the varied activities of the board members, who comprised the guest group.

However the hostess made it a very delightful social function as well, entertaining her "official family" not only in her attractive ocean front cottage, but at a smartly appointed luncheon in Las Ondas cafe, overlooking the waves which give it its musical name. Swimming and the usual happy features of a beach outing were enjoyed in the intervals of planning for next year's club work.

All discussions were strictly informal, but the plans outlined would seem to promise a continuation of the many interesting phases which have marked the past year's work of the Ebell society.

Sharing the gracious hospitality of Mrs. Tutbill were Miss Louise Tubbs, Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mrs. W. D. Baker, Mrs. W. B. Seaver, Miss Norma Wingood, Mrs. William H. De Wolfe, Mrs. W. I. Ferrey, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. Harry Spencer, Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mrs. Charles Carothers.

Music Section Closes Year's Work With Musicales

Observing their annual guest night in connection with the closing program of their club year, members of Ebell's Music section last night presented one of the most enjoyable musicales in section history following the dinner served in the peacock room.

Some of the city's most prominent and popular musicians aided in the after-dinner event, which opened with "cello numbers" by Edward Burns, who chose the exquisite "Romance" for his first selection, followed by a Spanish number, "Estrellita." Miss Ruth Armstrong played the piano accompaniments.

Irma Huffman May sweetly sang a solo group including "The Love Call" from the opera, "Rose Marie," "A Birthday" by Woodman, and the graceful "Lilac Tree." Estelle Card Freeman loaned variety to the program with her presentation of the one-act play, "Ashes of Roses" by Constance McKay, with one of T. A. Daly's clever Italian sketches as an encore number.

Ollimae Enlow Matthews contributed three of her beautifully rendered violin solos with Ione Tunison Peek at the piano. Clarence White's Negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had," "Cree Indian Dance" and Ravel's "Little Melody" comprised her selections. The program closed with piano numbers by Clarence Gustlin, whose perfect technique was shown in Gluck's "Melody," a Brahms "Gavotte," and as a gracious little tribute to Madame Manuella Budrow, a prominent member of the section, her own composition, "Spanish Serenade." Mme. Budrow was to have assisted with the program, but was prevented by illness.

Earlier features of the evening included the presentation of next year's officers, Mrs. Marie Bishop, leader, and Mrs. Charles C. Brisco, assistant leader, who will succeed Mrs. Harry N. Hayes and Mrs. Victor Montgomery. Friendly remarks by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, retiring president of Ebell society and one of the honor guests, followed the dinner.

The dinner itself was a culinary triumph, for which a committee of Mesdames B. H. Sharpless, George Rayburn, M. C. Williams, C. C. Brisco and Miss Preble Drake, was responsible. Carnations, bachelor buttons and ferns made the tables charming, and were placed by a committee composed of Mesdames John Wehrly, Theo. Wimbler, C. F. Crose, W. G. Knox and Harry Hayes.

Mrs. Hayes as retiring president, had charge of the ensuing program, and in her farewell talk, took occasion to present a basket of flowers to Mrs. William G. Knox in appreciation of her tireless duties as secretary and press chairman.

Bridge Club Members Entertain Husbands

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Ludlow of West Third street, were hosts last evening to a bridge club of which Mrs. Ludlow is a member. Women of the club entertained their husbands with a pot-luck supper and the remainder of the evening was devoted to a card tourney. Sweet peas furnished fragrant decorations.

At conclusion of play, honors were awarded Mrs. John Turton, holding women's high score, and Mrs. Everett Corneel, low. Ralph Mitchell held men's high score and Hugo Bealeu was low. Attractive prizes were given the winners.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Bealeu, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Getty, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. E. Corneel, Mr. and Mrs. James Board, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Eileen of Orange.

20-30 Club Entertains At Successful Function

The annual "Ladies Night" was observed by the 20-30 club of this city, when guests from clubs of all parts of Southern California joined the Santa Ana organization at the dinner and dance held last evening. Women were entertained at dinner at the Santa Ana cafe, after which guests adjourned to the Rendezvous ballroom for dancing.

Wayne Luderbach, president of the local 20-30 club, announced to-day that approximately 25 couples were seated at dinner and 65 couples attended the dance. He said representatives were present from practically every club invited including Hollywood, Inglewood, Huntington Park, Riverside, San Bernardino, Pomona, Ontario, Upland, Corona, Oceanside, Pasadena and Los Angeles.

Fred Forgy was after dinner speaker at the affair. His remarks were significant of the thought that the 20-30 club holds a unique position in relation to other service clubs, because it is striving to build up lasting friendships which will ultimately result in closer business associations and is not engrossed with the "almighty dollar" only. Forgy interspersed his talk with the humorous touches for which he is noted.

Other interesting features at the dinner hour included a group of vocal solos given by Harry Jensen, and Norwood Nye of the West Coast-Walker theater was present as an entertainer.

Victor Walker acted as chairman of the committee of entertainment, assisted by Cloyes Pilch, song leader, Harry Jensen and Roscoe Conklin.

Friendly Group Plans Birthday Surprise

Unexpected arrival of a group of friends at the Adolph Erickson home, 1041 West Sixth street, on Saturday night, served to convince Mrs. Erickson that she could be thoroughly surprised on her birthday, if plans could be made as secretly as they had in this particular case.

The friendly conspiracy resulted in an enjoyable evening, with buncos and cotees as entertainment for the merry-makers. A charming feature was the shower of lovely flowers contributed by the guests, who also provided the appetizing refreshments served at the close of the successful affair.

Those present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Erickson, were Messrs. and Mesdames F. A. Brown, Charles Dixon, Jack Shaw, William Showalter, Oscar Kurtz, Erroll Barnes, Del Johnson, Mrs. Evelyn Kintz, Mrs. J. Sneer, Miss Martha Showalter and Miss Mabel Dixon.

The evening will be devoted to preparing the ticket books for the Southern California clubwomen expected to arrive Friday and Saturday for the Southern District convention. This committee is composed of Miss Gallagher, Miss Mildred Myers, Miss Florence Rockhill, Miss Lana Brokaw, and Miss Myrtle Meyer, and other members of the club who can aid them in tonight's duties, are asked to be present.

Engagement News Told In Charming Fashion At Pretty Party

When Mrs. R. H. Barnard asked members of the first floor staff of the Rankin Dry Goods store to join in an all fresco supper last night in her home at 1238 South Van Ness avenue, no one suspected that the party was to announce the betrothal of one of their number. But that was the delightful surprise feature of the evening, and as the party developed, the guests learned that Miss Helen Hull was to wed Geoffrey Wilde at a date not yet to be revealed.

Supper progressed as such happy affairs do, to the point where loaves were to be served, when Mrs. Barnard asked her guests to return to the dining-room. There they discovered a special engagement cake which had been baked by Miss Leonard Olson, a sister of Mrs. Hull, and delectable loaves in Cupid and wedding bell moulds. With each individual ice was a cunning Cupid struggling under the burden of a rosy heart. The heart formed a little booklet whose pages disclosed snapshots of Miss Hull and Mr. Wilde, with the quoted announcement of "in the good old summer time" for the nuptial date.

The home was made gay with flowers to correspond with the wealth of blossoms which vied with swaying Japanese lanterns to make the garden so attractive. In this floral setting the evening sped swiftly while the guests hemmed tea towels and dust cloths for the bride-to-be, monogramming each as fancy dictated.

Miss Hull is one of the city's loveliest girls and has won a host of friends whose interest will be keen in her betrothal and marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilde, 1917 Bush street, is a taller at the First National bank.

Those who were asked to enjoy Mrs. Barnard's hospitality and hear the betrothal news, included in addition to the honoree, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Miss Margaret Bowen, M. O. H. Orndorff, Miss Dorothy Osborn of Anaheim, Miss Ruth Sanford, Miss Penneate Hammerstead, Miss Evelyn Greder, Miss Peggy Frick of Orange, Miss Margaret Richardson, Mrs. Ann Hay, Miss Corinne Pennington, Mrs. L. H. Barnard of Oakland, Mrs. Caswell Connor (Alice McBride) and her baby daughter, Mrs. Claude Lavieure (Mary Maud Cadie), Mrs. Glenn Pierson (Belle McKintyre), Mrs. Paul Owens (Lorraine Sauers), Mrs. Grace Nichols and Mrs. Alberta Blake.

Early Morning Wedding Held In This City

An interesting wedding which took place in this city was that of Miss Anna Degryse, daughter of the late Mrs. Susan Degryse of Anaheim, and Clyde Maxwell of Bell, at which the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated early Sunday morning in his parsonage home, 1009 1-2 North Broadway.

Gowned in her traveling costume of a beige Canton crepe ensemble with harmonizing accessories, Miss Degryse made a lovely bride as she took her wedding vows attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Degryse. Those who were privileged to be present, were unanimous in declaring the early hour of 7 o'clock, one of the most charming of the entire 24, for a bridal service. This small guest group included Mrs. E. Mae Maxwell, mother of the bridegroom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell left during the forenoon hours for the Yosemite but not before they had been complimented at a wedding breakfast in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bowen of Anaheim. Upon their return they will make their home in Huntington Park and Mr. Maxwell will resume his duties with a business firm in Bell. His bride is a graduate of Anaheim high school with the class of 1925, and for the past three years has been with the Western Union in Bell.

Relief Corps Enjoys Dollar Social
The lovely home of Mrs. J. G. Mosbaugh, 636 North Broadway was opened yesterday afternoon for the dollar social by the Woman's Relief Corps. The social was held to take the place of the yearly bazaar. The afternoon was spent in conversation, fancy work, and telling in rhyme how the dollar was earned, causing much laughter. The sum of $39 was added to the treasury.

The president, Mrs. Millen voiced her appreciation for the co-operation of the members, shown by so many present, and also outlined some of the avenues opened to the Corps to further usefulness and help to those less fortunate. With Mrs. Estelle Gray at the piano, the members joined in singing "America," and several old time songs.

Tea and waters were furnished and served by the officers of the Corps as part of the entertainment. The afternoon came to a close with those present feeling the meeting had been a happy and profitable one and expressing their appreciation to Mrs. Mosbaugh for her graciousness to the Corps.

Bond Issue and Music Share Interest for Clubwomen

In anticipation of the flood control bond issue which will be presented to the voters of Orange county on June 25, members of Santa Ana Woman's club yesterday afternoon gave their attention to that issue as it was explained to them by Dr. W. Maxwell Burke in a brief talk in which he covered a great deal of territory, and made the various points involved, very clear to his hearers.

Mrs. C. F. Crose as program chairman, explained that the proposed bond issue was of such vital interest to clubwomen, that she felt it advisable to give some of the afternoon to that rather than devoting it entirely to American composers as had been programmed at the beginning of the club year.

Dr. Burke in his talk, explained the great alluvial deposits underlying the county, reaching to an impenetrable rock stratum which serves to hold the waters sweeping down from the mountain divide, in a vast underground well. Tapping this gives us our water for domestic and irrigation purposes, but so heavy is the demand that the water table is constantly sinking, and he explained that scientists feared the time might come, with increased population and increased needs, when the salt sea waters would overcome the pressure exerted by the diminished supply, and soak through the intervening soil to take the place of the present sweet water.

That conservation of the flood waters was of primary importance, and the menace to life and property offered by such floods as those of 1916 and 1922, of secondary importance, he pointed out, explaining that the proposed Prado dam would not only be for the conservation of water but also for the conservation of the sea and be wasted. Under the existing conditions, there would be a definite limit of expansion both of population and products of the county, and he pointed out the small likelihood of a county definitely curtailing its population.

He explained the various phases of the proposed action, such as the moving of the highway now running through Santa Ana canyon, the moving of the Santa Fe tracks, cost of land and labor, purchase of the Santa Ana river bed from the dam site to the ocean, with a total cost of $16,500,000 to be financed by successive bond issues as the work progressed and concluded in 40 years.

At the conclusion of the address by Dr. Burke, Mrs. Crose presented the musical part of the program, citing American music as being rightly only the Indian music as the Indians were the only true Americans. She spoke of the influence of Indian legend on composers of the present, and also cited the Negro influence as being more exotic and foreign. John Knowles Paine was one of the earliest American composers she declared, and a pioneer in the field of American music.

Coming down through the years she spoke of Ethelbert Nevin, Dudley Buck, Henry Rowe Shelley, Reginald De Koven, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Carrie Jacobs Bond, and others.

Mrs. Pearl Livesey was presented as soloist and Mrs. W. H. Crose as her accompanist, and they provided a delightful interval during which Mrs. Livesey sang "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" by Cadman, "Mighty Lak a Rose" by Nevin, and "Funny Little Fellow" by Grant.

Mrs. Howard Clemens, president, called attention to plans for the annual club picnic to be held in Bixby park, Long Beach, June 25, and Mrs. J. H. Tompkins submitted a tentative menu for the members to prepare.

Santa Ana Girls Now Graduate Nurses

Three popular Santa Ana girls, Miss Mabel Harvey, Miss Eva Alma McNeil, and Miss Christine Hasenwager, were among the 44 young women who last night received diplomas as graduate nurses at the 32nd annual commencement exercises of the Bishop Johnson College of Nursing of the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles.

Relatives and friends of the three Santa Ana graduates were among the hundreds who assembled at the Cathedral house of the hospital group, for the impressive services at which presentation of the coveted diplomas was made by the Right Reverend W. B. Stevens, president of the board of directors. The Rev. Remson DuBois Bird, president of Occidental college, gave the graduation address. The graduation class was to continue the commencement celebration with an "at home" this afternoon at the Mary Louise Tea room, 2200 West Seventh street, Los Angeles.

One of yesterday's pretty affairs was the meeting of an intimate little group of bridge players, who were entertained for luncheon in the attractive home of Mrs. C. Van Deusen, 1319 South Ross street, with the remainder of the afternoon devoted to their favorite game.

Mrs. Van Deusen used a variety of garden flowers in adorning her home, and chose those in tones of pink and yellow to center the two tables where an appetizing three-course luncheon was served. Waxed nut cups in the same color scheme shared interest of dainty place and tally cards at each cover.

First prize in bridge was awarded Mrs. F. S. Whipple, with second prize presented to Mrs. Howard Shugart. To Miss Ann Henderson of Kansas City, a guest of her sister, Mrs. Shugart, was presented an attractive guest prize.

Sharing the enjoyable afternoon with the hostess were Mesdames Henry Walker, Ray Seaver, W. A. Buckingham, Flake Smith, George Spangler, F. S. Whipple, Howard Shugart and Miss Henderson.

Secret of Good Custards

custards, properly cooked, are most delicate of desserts, although we are inclined to relegate them to the realm of child diet and the sick room.

At try baking custard in a low dish so that there will be a crusty brown top and serve with cream and berries.

is fall me!

the whole process of custard resting on this one principle.

Eggs become TOUGH and WATERY when cooked long at any temperature, no matter how low.

cooked custards, those cooked in a double boiler, are perhaps the most difficult to make so that the custard is soft, yet creamy. The custard must be stirred constantly, even as the spoon is coated the custard is done. Remove at once from the fire and put away to cool.

the test for a baked custard is to insert a knife blade which should come out clean when the custard is cooked; always bake with the dish in another bain-marie of water. For a very custard use 2 eggs to each cup of milk, for one to be eaten of the baking cup use 1 egg to each cup of sweetened milk.

clude custards frequently in menu during hot weather; vegetables and fruits form a large part of our diet; we apt to forget our protein needs is one way to meet that perfectly.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cottage Cheese-Nut Loaf

cup sieved cottage cheese cup coarsely ground peanuts cup thick cooked cereal cup dry breadcrumbs

2 tablespoons chopped onion 2 eggs, well beaten 2 tablespoons butter, melted 1-2 teaspoon soda 1-2 teaspoon sage Salt and pepper.

For this loaf use cottage cheese that has not been mixed with cream; your dairy can supply it. I am sure. The cooked cereal mentioned can be anything you have on hand—cream of wheat, oatmeal or corn meal mush. Chop it fine with a fork and mix with the cheese, ground peanuts, minced onion, sage, bread crumbs and salt and pepper.

Beat the eggs light, add the soda to them and stir into the loaf mixture—the eggs bind the loaf and the soda prevents it from curdling during cooking. Pack the mixture into a deep buttered bread tin and bake in a hot oven for 25 minutes to brown the top and sides. Turn out of dish and serve with a hot tangy tomato sauce, or a brown mushroom sauce.

The loaf will serve six and the calories total about 1700 with a third of the amount in proteins, our repair and tissue building food.

The vegetable served with this cheese loaf should be low in calorie value and large in bulk. Such vegetables are not hard to find with so much to choose from—green string beans, new cabbage, spinach, peas, summer squash. Green peas and asparagus can also be included as a second-choice vegetable. Potatoes are not necessary; please note the quantities of starches in the recipe.

GEMS FROM AN OLD COOK BOOK, the current leaflet, include recipes for making black bean soup, potted beef, pressed chicken, a "sumshus" apple dessert called Apple Charlotte and Ginger Snaps that ARE the simon-pure article. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and get a free copy this week.

TOMORROW we will have Marshmallow Layer Cake, a recipe requested by a reader of the Mixing Bowl.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Miss Ellen Wilkinson, red-headed Socialist member of Parliament has just published a novel. Under this disguise it discusses her fellow M. P.'s. They are rather wiggly about the novel, and look forward to a sequel rather apprehensively. They are saying a few things, too, about "these two-faced women," and remembering that Marot Asquith "betrayed" all her friends, merely to write a smart and lucrative book.

HOW ABOUT MEN?

The tempest all reminds me of certain other books about the great which were published in anonymity and traced back to male authors. Women, when they take their pen in hand, just seem to dare to be a little more frank. Women, too, intelligent ones, at least, have the faculty of squeezing every situation dry. They are not only content to be M. P.'s. They want to write about it, too.

There are infinitely more women successful in their business and professions who take their pens in hand and interpret that profession than there are men who do the same thing. Men seem content with one job—not two or more.

WHEN IT'S FASHION

Suppose that the dressmakers put out a new dress in a certain shade of blue. They don't consider that dress really a success, "a fashion" till 35 per cent of all women are wearing that blue dress. In other words, about 80 out of 250 women must sponsor a fashion before its launchers draw a relieved breath.

SHE TOOK IT

Constance Bennett, young, pretty, talented, accepted one million dollars in alimony from her ex-husband, Philip Plant, thus shattering our prevalent idea that the modern woman capable of self-support, spurns alimony.

Perhaps she does when it's to the tune of $20 a week, but a cool million is a different thing to be spurned.

BULLY FOR GRANDMA

A grandmother of 81 recently made her debut as premiere danseuse of a certain dancing class in Cleveland, O. This is truly remarkable, as the woman had never danced a step in her life till she entered the class at the age of 80. It is remarkable not so much as a tale of physical achievement, but of mental and emotional.

When a woman raised in one era suddenly assumes the customs of a new era, she has performed as gallant a feat as any human being ever does—this transferring oneself from the past to the present.

Just why any commotion should be made about the fact that most of our congresswomen gave their ages in the last congressional directory is beyond me! That women are unwilling to give their ages has been an exploded myth for some time. At least they have been perfectly willing to give an age for some time; whether the right age or not is another matter. Most women have social and professional ages these days, just as they have social and professional names!

USEFUL BELTING

With valetines growing stylish again, it is a good idea when making a one-piece dress with fitted hips, to use washable belting on the inside, stitching the frock to it where the waist joins the skirt. The whole thing sets better and holds much longer.

At the Theatres

YOST BROADWAY

Rex Ingram smashes precedent with his production of "The Three Passions," opening today at the Broadway theater and acclaimed by many good judges as by far the best picture Ingram has made in Europe.

It is the first picture Ingram has made for a British company. The unit responsible for "The Three Passions" is St. George's Productions, Ltd., Capt. Alastair Mackintosh, managing director.

One of the strongest and most interesting pictures yet produced in the short era of all-talking films, is "The Trial of Mary Dugan," whose Santa Ana premier yesterday at the Walker theater, attracted large crowds to each performance.

With a remarkable cast headed by Norma Shearer, the engrossing plot moves to its climax so smoothly and with such gathering force, that spectators almost felt that they too were in the jury box, trying to decide as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner at the bar.

Gray the cast consists of Sam Hardy, Harvey Clark, Paul Hurst, Gino Corrado and King Zany, with hundreds of extras.

actors, Raymond Hackett as Mary's brother, "Jimmy Dugan," gives a sterling performance when he finds a unique way to free his sister of the charge and demonstrate her innocence.

To those not familiar with the plot of Bayard Veiller's gripping melodrama, one may merely say that the setting is a courtroom in which a sensational murder trial takes place. A rapid fusillade of questions by the prosecuting and defense attorneys is the central point about which the story is unrolled.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" will continue with tonight's and tomorrow afternoon and evening performances.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" will continue with tonight's and tomorrow afternoon and evening performances.

Gray the cast consists of Sam Hardy, Harvey Clark, Paul Hurst, Gino Corrado and King Zany, with hundreds of extras.

actors, Raymond Hackett as Mary's brother, "Jimmy Dugan," gives a sterling performance when he finds a unique way to free his sister of the charge and demonstrate her innocence.

To those not familiar with the plot of Bayard Veiller's gripping melodrama, one may merely say that the setting is a courtroom in which a sensational murder trial takes place. A rapid fusillade of questions by the prosecuting and defense attorneys is the central point about which the story is unrolled.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, since the day that I was born, I've never eaten such good corn," said Clowny, as he munched away at corn upon the ear. "I'll bet it would taste better still with butter, but this is a thrill. Somebody better stop me, or I'll eat too much, I fear."

"Oh, my," exclaimed the Goody-goos. "That's something that I wouldn't do. A tummyache is terrible. I've had one, so I know. You seem to think this corn won't last. Perhaps that's why you're eating fast. Take my advice, don't eat too much and also eat real slow."

Then Scouty chimed in, with a smile. "I've had enough till after while. Let's save the rest till supper time. Then we can eat some more. I'm very certain, if we would, by that time it will taste real good. 'Tis always best to be prepared and have some food in store."

And so they found a spot for where they could hide the roasted corn. "No one will ever find it here," said Copy. "Mercy me! It's tucked away so safe and sound that it won't topple to the ground. We'll never find a hiding place like this one in this tree."

And then the bunch sat down to rest. "Just think," said Copy. "We are blest with sunshine and the real fresh air. What more could tots desire. Let's loaf awhile, and maybe snooze. We have a heap of time to lose. It seems we're always on the go. That likely makes us tired."

All of a sudden Carpy jumped, and my, ah my, how his heart thumped. "Look! Look!" he cried. "What's happened to our friend, the old scarecrow?" The Tynmites got a big surprise, for right before their very eyes, the scarecrow came to life and started moving to and fro.

(The Tynmites make friends with the scarecrow in next story.)

HEARST'S PROHIBITION PRIZE

The Hearst prize for the best plan for overthrowing prohibition has been awarded.

It is short and simple.

First: Change the definition of intoxicating liquors to read "All alcoholic products of distillation."

Second: All sale, manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquors to be banned by federal law, except for commercial or medicinal purposes.

Third: Permit each state to regulate and control manufacture and sale of brewed and fermented beverages.

This seems to be the best anti-prohibition plan that the lure of $25,000 can furnish. It involves, in the first place, that Congress shall say that wines containing at least 12 per cent of alcohol are not intoxicating and that the Supreme Court of the United States shall agree. The Constitution bans the manufacture, transportation and sale of "intoxicating liquors."

Does anyone suppose that either Congress or the Supreme Court will so stultify itself that it will say that wines or hard cider are not intoxicating no matter how much alcohol they may contain?

The prize winner is a judge. Would he himself render a judicial opinion that no fermented liquor was in fact intoxicating? We venture to say that no judge would risk his reputation for sanity, probity or ability to reason by rendering such a decision. Yet, that is just what the plan contemplates.

His second point contains no new feature, except that all beer and wine, so far as the United States was concerned, could be manufactured, sold and transported.

His third point would permit each state to prohibit, absolutely or conditionally, beer and wine, but it could not permit distilled liquor even if it chose.

Congress and the Supreme Court having said (2) that these beverages were not intoxicating, would it not be presumptuous for any state legislature to prohibit them because they were intoxicating? Nobody could get drunk on port or champagne by act of Congress, how, then, could they get drunk by act of the Legislature on these same beverages? The United States Constitution and the laws of Congress, made in pursuance thereof, are the supreme law of the land, therefore, when Congress says—providing the Supreme Court agrees—that brewed and fermented beverages are not intoxicating, then, of course, they are not, even though they are.

We seem to have some trouble about importation of hard liquors right now. Make state lines borders which such liquors may not pass, and you multiply your boundaries by 48, and increase the difficulties 48 times.

But the essayist says he believes "that the traffic in distilled liquor would eventually come to be regarded as shameful as that in drugs and narcotics." "We have no means of judging the future but by the past," said Patrick Henry. What has there been in the history of the liquor traffic which suggests to the Judge that the bootlegger will obey any law against his traffic, or that the appetite for whiskey will disappear from America? With intoxicating wines sold freely will it be easier, or more difficult, to control the illegal sale of whiskey?

This prize plan just multiplies such difficulties as exist at present without a sane promise of any betterment.

The whole question, reduced to its lowest terms, is this: Is intoxicating liquor an evil? If it is, then let us treat it as such. Let us not lie by Act of Congress in the hope that the Supreme Court of the United States will perpetuate that lie in the interest of those who want to drink intoxicating liquor.

The fundamental mistake which this judge made is the same mistake that this whole Hearst propaganda is making, that is, the false assumption of the purpose of Congress and the states when they enacted the 18th Amendment. The 18th Amendment was a result of a nation wide agitation and educational program of more than 50 years, directed not against any particular kind of intoxicating liquor, but against alcoholic beverages which produced drunkenness.

For nearly 50 years it was entirely a moral crusade. Those who were leading it, and those who became enlisted in the campaign, were not so particular as to how a man became drunken, whether it was through an alcoholic content that came from the distillation process, or whether it was through the putrefaction of the grape or apple. The campaign was directed against the destruction of the sobriety of men, women and children, in the interest of society and civilization.

Those who are proposing some "methods" now of getting around the Constitution and the law, are opposed to the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. Those who favor the law are in favor of such prohibition. To put the brewing of beer in along with the natural processes of "God," and the distillation of alcohol as being an artificial process, is a distinction without a difference. Mr. Hearst is carrying on a campaign against prohibition,—he has used this method to do it. It has gotten the cause a great notoriety, but it is without moral or logical foundation.

Newspaper dispatches say the Tacna-Arica dispute has been settled, but didn't say who was objecting to it, or whether or not they preferred sulphur and molasses.

MERITS HEARTY SUPPORT

Dr. James Ewing, head of the pathological department of Cornell University and a student of cancer for some 20 years, announces a plan for the control of the dread disease.

There is nothing startling concerning this plan nor any assurance that a specific has been found for cancer, but certainly the number of victims which cancer claims each year justifies the carrying out of this program of the establishing of cancer institutions located in all large cities, and well equipped with radium apparatus.

Anything which can be done along this line should receive the support of both philanthropists and the government.

LABOR TAKES CONTROL

The ascendancy of Ramsay McDonald again to power in Great Britain emphasizes the industrial crisis.

The most serious problem which Great Britain faces is the labor problem. There was a division, rather strong among the wage earners of Great Britain, as to the relative value of the labor union plan and political action.

One side contended that the British worker could obtain all he needed to redress his wrongs or supply his needs through trade unionism; the other, while supporting the labor union idea, did not believe that the union plan was sufficient of itself. The general strike was a supreme test of union claims, and while the strike was a remarkable one in that order was observed and a powerful strength of union workers proven, yet it did not gain anything for the laboring element, and as a solution it proved itself to be a complete failure.

The result has been that the followers of the trade union leaders, who had hoped to accomplish things entirely by the trade union program, have given up the thought that the solution lay along that line, and have joined heartily in political action. This has strengthened the Labor party in all parts of the British Isles.

While labor's solidarity in the unions these leaders believe is helpful, it must be supplemented by political control in order to be fully effective. There will be no marked change in the government's activities with the installation of Ramsay McDonald as British Prime Minister. The Labor party is not socialistic to the extent that the socialist party in the United States is.

Its leaders are men of conviction, to be sure, but men at the same time, who become to a certain extent conservative with the possession of power. They could not, if they would, change radically the laws governing industries in Great Britain, for they have not a majority in Parliament themselves, and must depend upon voters from the Liberal or Conservative parties to aid them in any specific program. This alone will force them along the line of opportunism.

But the truth is, that with McDonald and Snowden and Thomas and other men of like character conducting the government, it could be assured that no radical change would take place at any given time.

The most outstanding change in the program of the government of Great Britain will be noted from an international angle. Labor is opposed to international conflict. Ramsay McDonald, who now becomes the real head of the British government, is a pacifist, and was a pacifist during the war. He maintains that Great Britain should not have the right to blockade the seas, for example, and he will be favorable to any reasonable plan looking toward disarmament. We believe that on this issue he will have the support of not only his own followers, but many of the Liberal and Conservative party men as well. Great Britain can count herself exceedingly fortunate that, in such a change from the Conservative to the Labor government, she has men educated, trained and capable of carrying on as the leaders of the Labor party, who are, after all, Englishmen, and who are opposed to revolutionary procedure.

Dropping More Shackles From Feminine Activities

San Bernardino Sun

One by one the shackles man has kept upon women throughout the ages are falling off. Founded originally in physical superiority, when strength and fighting power were the standard of judgment and value, the domination of the male has lasted a long time in human history. It was inevitable that such dominance should receive religious endorsement, against which it has been harder to prevail than against mere custom and legal enactment. So it is but natural, that religious equality for women should tarry behind political equality. Religious conceptions are the most conservative of all that man holds.

For a number of years there has been growing a sentiment to release women from the position of complete subordination in the affairs of the various Protestant denominations. Four years ago the Methodists removed the ban upon their official participation in church affairs enough to permit women evangelists and preachers to speak, but not to hold pastorates. Now the Presbyterians of the northern branch are considering the opening of the door to them completely. The general assembly in session recently in St. Paul handed down three proposals to the presbyteries: Permitting women to be ordained as ministers, to serve as elders, and to be licensed as evangelists. Apparently all that is held back is the position of Trustee, a purely legal matter not touching the religious life of the church.

If a majority of the presbyteries vote approval before the meeting of the general assembly next June, the latter body will declare the proposals adopted and in effect. Many men church members gravely shake their heads and predict religious disruption if women are to be given such power in church life, but that has been the attitude of conservatives over every advance women have made throughout the centuries. And because conservatism in religion is so much stronger than in civil and social matters, success of these proposals can not be predicted with confidence. We may still see the women supplying three-fourths of the attendance and four-fifths of the work of the church, without having legal power to help shape its religious life for some years to come.

A Song of Nations

Christian Science Monitor

On a recent occasion the Australian boys now visiting the American continent were in Chicago, and in the course of their reception they played the British National anthem. Certain of their auditors thought they were playing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." But who shall say that the air played "Kranz," or the Swiss "Rufst du mein Vaterland," or the Danish national hymn, for all of which the same air is used on festive occasions? Perhaps the day may come when there will be a universal anthem, with words to suit all nations.

ALAS POOR COW!

Cows have, in the last few years, been improved 15 per cent in milk producing qualities.

When the cow was a creature young creature
And browsed on what fodder she chose,
The hills and the leas and the hedges and trees
Re-echoed her musical lows.
At dawning she ambled to pasture,
All day at her pleasure to roam,
In the evening, replete with abundance to eat
She cheerfully headed for home.

She was temperate then in her diet
And her figure was graceful and trim.
She could race o'er the hill when the mornings were chill
She had plenty of spirit and vim,
And, owning her debt to the farmer
For a life of contentment and ease
She paid every day in a generous way
A tribute of milk, cream, and cheese.

But man, being never contented
With the blessings that nature bestows
Was loath to allow to the leisure cow
The time that she spent in repose
He constantly sought to improve her,
To science he daily appealed
To find better ways which would help him to raise
The poor creature's lacteal yield.

No longer she picks out the fodder
With regard to her personal taste,
She must eat only that which contains the most fat
And results in a minimum waste.
And the cow, who was once in farmstead
A silky flanked pastoral queen
Has grown listless and glum, for today she's become
A plodding milk-making machine.

Why Not Gradually
Abolish Profits?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Most people do not favor blowing up the industrial world. Dynamite seems too sudden. But some people do favor gradually destroying the established economic order by gradually abolishing profits.

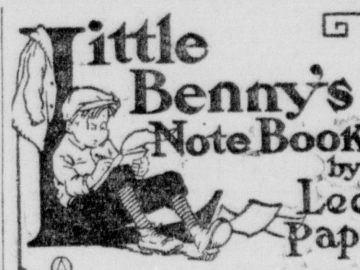

Such a program is not practicable. If the Brooklyn Bridge is not the best means of getting across the East River, we should demolish the bridge and resort to ferry boats, rather than take out a cable here and a cable there until the whole structure collapses. There is the same objection to destroying the profit motive, little by little, without providing a workable substitute. That is the way we treated our railroads for many years. It is slow suicide.

The man who thought that, by reducing rations a little every day, he could eventually make his donkey work without food, had to give up the experiment, because the donkey died.

Lenin declared that the quickest way to kill capitalism is to cut out its heart. And the heart is profits. Lenin was right. But he was wrong later on, after he had failed to find a working substitute, in supposing that he could partially restore the heart and make it work, while hampering its action in countless ways.

Such a compromise is not workable. We must either use the profit motive for all that it is worth, or else kill it and supply a better one.

I was late for supper again last night on account of not realizing how dark it was getting till it got all a ways dark, and I was quick yawning home and I had a idea, thinking, G, I know what, I'll use my nickel to telephone and say there was a axident and then when they find out I wasn't hurt they'll be glad to see me.

Sounding like a good idea, and I went in the drug store and telephoned and ma came to the fone saying, Hello, and me saying, Is that you ma? and her saying, Why where are you, what's you doing, what are you telephoning for?

Meaning instead of being there myself personally, and I sed, There was a axident, ma.

Well, G, pop, the axident wasent axactly to me, but I was there and that's what made me late because I helped her to pick them up, I sed, Helped what to pick who up? pop sed, and I sed, Some lady dropped a bag full of apples, G wizz there must be 20 rolled out.

Yee gods, that's nothing to the number of snacks that are going to roll off of my slipper, pop sed, Giving me a kind of a idee what was going to happen when I axually got home.

Life

IMPOSSIBLE JOBS

The pioneer is the priceless man of every period.

Most of us must live our lives by coming to terms with The Known.

We must be content with fire-side minds.

But in every generation there are a few exceptional and exalted spirits who spend their lives making The Unknown come to terms. These are men with frontier minds.

The typical pioneer of earlier generations was the explorer.

The typical pioneer of this generation is the scientist.

The explorer conquered the jungle's frontier.

The scientist conquers the jungle's fever.

Between the two types of pioneers there is a difference that is worth pondering a moment.

The explorer-pioneer was a rover over wide areas.

The scientist-pioneer is a specialist in narrow fields.

One of the most engaging aspects of the biographies of the great pioneers of earlier centuries is the record of how they gave themselves, casually but with obvious confidence, to jobs they could not possibly complete.

A little handful of men would set out to open up a vast continent and to lay thereon the foundation of a new civilization.

Turning to a mere handful of not particularly well trained followers a Pioneer extraordinary said to them: "Go ye into the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

He did not have a syndicate of newspapers to help in so enterprise of evangelism.

He could not turn to an advertising genius with the techniques of appeal we know.

He did not have the radio, vision, or the talkies in which the personalities and moments of this little band be duplicated.

He nevertheless committed a job of going into all the world, not into one special province, preaching the gospel to every creature, not some special class.

Today specialization has far that we map out for jobs that we do pretty well.

He can complete with the knowledge and equipment.

I do not mean to suggest this pointing up of our specimens we know well is surely not a great merit. It is. But I whether we have not lost amidst of our ever narrower isms, that courageous dard led primitive pioneers to take tasks they must have they could never finish?

There is a subtle but still value in being thrown into enterprise so much bigger specialized powers that beckons us to be bigger are at the moment.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE FAMILIAR

Jimmie was always late with his school work. If the teacher asked for a book report on Friday she got it next Thursday, maybe. If report cards were to be returned Monday morning, Jimmie handed his in late Thursday. If the class had to change rooms at a given signal, Jimmie was always scrambling through his desk when the last member of the class passed out of the corridor.

"Dear me, yes I know it," said his mother. "His whole family is like that. His father's family you know, were never on time in their lives. My husband was late for his own wedding. How can Jimmie help it?"

Lateness is not a hereditary failing. It is a matter of training. If Jimmie had been trained to be on time he would have been so but as he had been trained to be late, he was late.

Heredity is a force we have to accept. But none of us know just how much of it is at work in the children under our care and as long as we do not know wouldn't it be better for the children if we were to hope that this failing could be trained out? Deny the power of a poor trait or tendency instead of affirming it to your mind and the thing loses force. Keep affirming it, and it gathers power.

I have seen this happen many a time. A parent accepts as a settled thing that a son or daughter can't do certain work; or can do certain work; or must be gifted in certain lines and not in others; because their family traits were such and such.

Sometimes the thought but many times it is not conditions are set within them when they might have been located under another view. An open mind to child's traits and tendencies habits is always best. Their ultimate goodness andness is always best. To bad habit upon them for never helpful and always teaching.

I know you cannot a singer out of a child who is like that. That sort of thing obvious for notice. But no need of crippling the of a child by placing a pattern on him and so him to conform to the standards of the group. there?

You can teach a child on time. You can teach do his daily work to a of neatness. You can teach the simple though fund habits of cleanliness, of good manners if you a ing to take the trouble.

A lot of trouble that is to heredity is nothing more the imitation of a poor a child may inherit the his hair and the voice father or mother, but willing to believe that he their slack habits.

going to keep right on them out. Jimmie is on time. Mr. Patri will give attention to inquiries from par school teachers on the care development of children. W in care of The Register, large self-addressed and envelope for reply.)

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Today is the birthday of Uncle Tom, Simon Legree, Little Eva, Tom, and all the other well known characters in Harriet Beecher Stowe's story, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." They were born into the world simultaneously with the publication of the first chapter in the National Era, at Washington, D. C. For almost a year this historic anti-slavery tract ran as a serial story without attracting undue attention.

Upon its conclusion, it was published in book form and met with immediate, phenomenal success. Five hundred thousand copies were sold in the United States in five years and many more in England.

Historians sometimes point to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as one of the major causes of the Civil war. It first appeared when slavery was a political issue, bitter enough, but not emotionally stirring except to extremists.

The story did not present a true picture of typical slave life. Uncle

Tom's hardships were the tion instead of the rule. was the story great literat carding to most critics. F ning through it there is a earnestness and realism made it an undying part o lean letters.
